MANAGING EDITOR

June 3, 1982

Admiral Bobby R. Inman
Deputy Director Central Intelligence
Central Intelligence Agency
Washington, D.C. 20505

Dear Admiral Inman:

My colleagues and I would like to thank you for one of the most informative evenings we have been treated to in a long time. Your willingness to cope with three hours of questions -- and even a few position statements -- was all the evidence I needed of why Congressional committees wanted to have you explain to them the doings of a rather arcane world. You have given us some meaningful guidance on important issues.

I hope we can make some progress with the stories you suggested in your role of late evening editor. The list is fresh in mind and challenging.

My best wishes to you in your next assignment (I use the word advisedly. I was raised in a military family and quickly learned that life is nothing but a series of assignments, some of which turn out to be great fun). I am sure our paths will cross again and I look forward to it. Meanwhile, TIME is in your debt.

Sincerely,

RC Cave
